How Americans celebrate Easter

Hello, everybody! I am Georgiana your English teacher and founder of SpeakEnglishPodcast.com. My mission is to help you speak English fluently.

Today we'll talk about something festive. Have you noticed that in springtime you go to your local supermarket and you see chocolate bunnies and colorful eggs everywhere?

Well, today I'll talk about Easter and how Americans celebrate this holiday.

And with a funny mini-story, you'll practice your speaking while learning new things about the Easter holiday.

What exactly are we celebrating at Easter? Each spring people all over the world, celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ. This year we celebrate Easter on Sunday, April 21.

Whenever Easter comes, everywhere you go you'll see from colorful eggs to Easter bunny cakes.

Also, most people have a week off for Easter, so parties are organized to enjoy the occasion with family and friends. Certainly, Easter is one of the most celebrated holidays in the United States.

And how else do Americans celebrate Easter?

Apart from spending this holiday with friends and family, some people attend special services which are held in churches on Easter.

And what's with the eggs and the rabbits? Why are they a symbol of this holiday?

Eggs and rabbits symbolize the rebirth and return to the fertility of nature in spring. The eggs are hard-boiled and decorated or made of plastic, candy, and of course chocolate.

Every year, several Easter activities are held at the White House lawn. Hundreds of children participate in different activities and organize games.

The White House Easter Egg Roll officially dates back to 1878. Here's how the game works: The egg is placed on a flat floor while the children are asked to push it with a spoon. So cool! Right? Isn't it surprising to see a child playing with an egg instead of a video-game?

And there's another popular game in the States called Easter egg hunting. Here's how it works: The eggs are hidden all over the house, and the children hunt them with great excitement.

As a child, I have fond memories of making Easter eggs with my family and in school.

This type of activity is great for children. And usually, kids remember making Easter Eggs for the rest of their life.

Kids love decorating Easter eggs in the days before the holiday. And it's a beautiful way to stimulate their creativity.

And on Easter Sunday children wake up to find that the Easter Bunny has left them baskets of candy including the eggs that they decorated earlier that week.

By the way, a bunny is a child term for a rabbit. Now you know what Bugs Bunny means. :)

Of course, children enjoy this holiday a lot, but adults also have fun displaying their costumes and colorful hats at the Easter parades.

The person leading the parade holds an Easter candle or cross in their hand.

How interesting? Right?

And how do you celebrate Easter?
