Ok, let's start!

Boujee:

This word means something very fancy or luxurious. For example, if someone has a very expensive bag, you can say, "That's so boujee!"

Bussin':

If something is really good, like food or a song, you can say it's "bussin'." Like, "That pizza was bussin'!"

Drip:

When someone looks stylish, you can say their "drip" is impressive. For example, "Look at her jacket; her drip is cool."

Extra:

If someone does too much or acts very dramatic, they are being "extra." For example, "He bought 2000 cupcakes for his birthday. That's extra."

Rent-free:

When you can't stop thinking about something, it's living "rent-free" in your head. Like, "That funny video is living rent-free in my mind."

Salty:

If someone is upset over something small, they are being "salty." You might hear, "She was salty because she lost the game."

Shook:

This word means you are very surprised. You might say, "I was shook when I saw the surprise party."

Vibe check:

This is when you make sure everyone is happy or enjoying themselves. At a party, you might say, "Let's do a vibe check to see if everyone is having fun."

Coded:

When someone acts like something else, for example, "She is so happy and nice, just like a puppy. She's puppy-coded."

Roman Empire:

This is a fun way to talk about someone's big hobby. "Collecting stamps is his Roman Empire."

Vibing:

This means you are having a good time or getting along well with someone. "We were just vibing at the concert."

Altered my brain chemistry:

When something changes, the way you feel a lot.
"That beautiful song really altered my brain chemistry."

Beige flag:

This is when someone does something a bit strange but not serious. "He always talks to his plants. That's a beige flag."

NPC (non-player character)

This word comes from video games and refers to someone who doesn't think for themselves. "Try not to be an NPC; make your own decisions."

Great! Let's continue with a point-of-view lesson.

POV-Story

(Learn grammar in context)

I will tell you the same story twice. So make sure to focus on the changes.

One sunny day, Amy wanted to go to the beach with her friends. She was excited to show off her new swimsuit and sunglasses—her drip was impressive!

When Amy met her friends, they said, "Wow, your outfit is bussin'!" Amy felt happy because she loved her beach look. They found a nice spot on the sand and laid out their towels. It was going to be a perfect day.

Soon, Amy and her friends got hungry, so they went to buy some snacks. The beach had a famous hot dog stand, and everyone said the hot dogs were bussin'. Amy tried one and agreed, "These are the best hot dogs ever!"

After eating, Amy wanted to take pictures. She saw a group nearby doing a vibe check, laughing and checking if everyone was having fun. Amy thought that was a great idea. "Let's do a vibe check!" she called to her friends. They all cheered and jumped into a photo, smiling big.

Later, while playing volleyball, one of Amy's friends, Mark, missed an easy shot and got slightly salty. "I can't believe I missed that!" he said. Amy laughed and told him, "Don't be salty; it's just a game!"

As the sun started to set, Amy felt so happy. This special day had altered her brain chemistry—she felt more relaxed than in weeks. Sitting back, she thought about how she was just vibing with the waves and her best friends.

When it was time to leave, Amy felt a bit sad. But she knew there would be many more beach days. As they packed up, her friend Ellie said, "Today was awesome. This vibe is living rent-free in my head!"

Let's listen to the story one more time in the present tense from Amy's viewpoint.
